When the great grandparent Noah's ark came to rest upon the mountain of Ararat, it was the seventeenth day of the seventh month – this date is believed to be lucky ever since. The Noah's Ark restaurant proves it; from the opening date on July 17, 1999, it has become one of the most prestigious and popular places in Moscow. No wonder. Visitors like excellent Armenian cuisine incomparable to any other one in the capital and the luxurious richly decorated interior. Carving, paintings, gold embossment and furniture made of fumed oak create the home-like air and give a feeling of genuine oriental hospitality. Old national food – the pride of the Armenian cooks – famous Ararat cognacs and Armenian wines are available at the Ark. The menu impresses; it includes over 120 house specialities, among which shish kebab – the glory of the Armenian cuisine – is the king. In the centre of the hall stands a unique open-fire brazier, where, right before your eyes, cooks prepare the city's finest meat, fish and vegetable shashlyks, more than 25 varieties in all. Aromatic coffee on sand and desserts from the restaurant's own pastry shop. Stylish hand made interior. Great service. Warm ambiance. Private dinner parties and Delivery service. Major credit cards accepted.
